THE LATEST OFFICIAL FIG- Mr. Drew's spectacular promise of I ures destroy at one blow Mr. Drew's plan to cut $500 millions from the tax bill of the Canadian people

The largest item in this propos reduction is $300 millions which. Mr. Drew says, represents the government's "over-taxation"—the excess of public revenues over actual public expenditures. By eliminating the present budgetary surplus, by collecting no more revenues than he spends, Mr. Drew proposes to cut taxes instantly by $300 millions. That is three-fifths of his proposed economies of half a billion

But in fact, there is no such surplus to cut. According to figures released the other day by Mr. Abbott. the government's surplus in the last fiscal year, ending March 31 last, was about $24 millions. Assuming that the government should have a cumulated no surplus at all as Mr. Drew argues, the possible tax reduction on that score in the last fiscal year would have been less than $2 per year for every Canadian, even if the government made no further effort to reduce the national debt by the use of its revenue surplus.

In the current fiscal year, which began April 1, it seems likely that the insignificant surplus of the last year will disappear altogether. Taking into account the income tax reductions which begin on July 1, and the reduction in various other taxes, the current budget may not even be It may involve a small in balance. deficit by March 31,

It was particularly inappropriate that under these circumstances the pro-Labor Daily Mirror of London should come out with an edi-torial demand for the retirement of the stout-hearted old leader. ahead of him.

THE COMEBACK VICTORY OF Reeve Archie Gibbs in Oak Bay will be gratifying to his many admirers, inside and outside the Liberal party. Mr. Gibbs, down through the years, has served Oak Bay well. Despite the obvious appeal of Cabinet representation, which the Soc-reds offered in the formidable person of Mr. Gunderson, there was an inherent belief that the wee Welsh "Giant-killer," on the strength of his past service to the community, deserved the seat.

Mr. Gunderson made a surprisingly good showing, for a newcomer. We prophesied at the time his candidacy was announced that he was ill-advised to run in Oak Bay, and this has proved to be the case. Now he finds himself in the unenviable position of seeking a seat for the third time in eight months. It is generally conceded that Mr. Gunderson is one of the ablest of Mr. Bennett's lieutenants in the somewhat amorphous new party. The Premier will want to find a seat for But under the circumstances it will be entirely understandable if Mr. Gunderson seizes this opportunto withdraw from politics (to which, in some respects, he seems temperamentally unsuited) and return to the comparative quiet of private practice.

Repeating the Divorce Plea

THE ADMINISTRATION OF Civil Justice Committee of the Canadian Bar Association, B.C. division, has repeated the arguments previously made by provincial legal groups in favor of extending grounds for divorce.

The committee does not wish to lower all bars, It has no inclination to introduce frivolous grounds for dissolution of the marriage contract. But it does recognize realities and makes a plea for humane consideration in cases of desertion, cruelty and insanity on the part of a spouse. group's action attitude of the ancient province ton ward divorce is traditional and generally understood. Moreover, the Quebec influence on the question as concerns the rest of Canada is widely appreciated.

The B.C. committee presumably has no wish to foist its views on a part of the nation unwilling to accept them. But it would like to eliminate ingredients in divorce proceedings which it considers obsolete, in-human, often indecent, and destructive to the principles of court procedure and principle.

The gathering which has exressed itself on the question in this is to be commended. No opporto keep the issue alive should looked.

On the contrary, the greatest conten porary defect of the Canadian is a certain complacency, the feelings of a man who has climbed a long mountain trail and is rather surprised to find him-self at the top. He pauses to catch his wind, to congratulate himself on his suc-cess and to observe other climbers, less fortunate, who are still struggling through the timber.

UNFORTUNATELY there is never any end to that climb. At each summit in a nation's life a higher mountain looms on the horizon and a more dan gerous adventure lies just over the next rise. For all our recent conquest of height and distance the trail ahead is still perpendicular.

is the widespread belief that, because we have performed a miracle in 86 years miracles come easy and can be repeated without strain. As the present election campaign shows, the Canadian people of divine right, much more than even the present wealth of their nation can sibly provide, however it is redis-

WHEN all this is admitted it is clear to anyone who knows the rudiments of Canadian history that the nation is healthier within itself today than it has ever been before. Eighty-six years ago, within the span of some people still living, only a reckless optimist like Sir John A. could believe that the new-born nation, hardly more than a paper statute, could last out the century. In the First World War-it seemed to be breaking up on the orig-inal boundaries of race. In the thirties it showed alarming symptoms of rot. In the second war every expert expected a desperate let-down and economic crisis in the first days of peace.

YET here we are, after two wars and I the great depression in a single lifetime, better off than ever and, for all our family rows and all the crankiness of our politics, more determined than ever to be Canadian.

We might have done better in those We might have avoided mistakes obvious in retrospect. Sir John and the others could take a look at Canada today they would not be disappointed.

more use to their Communist masters, once they had been exposed by the American authorities as traffickers in atomic secrets to the peril of their own country. Indeed alive they were a poten-tial disaster to communism because of what they might reveal of the spy machine in the United States.

Communism is completely with those who have served its sinister purposes, as many purges and trials have shown, and one must doubt that ternational organization there was much real concern over the fate of the Rosenrgs. But the Reds have a shrewd sense of propaganda and in Rosenbergs could do a final service.

So from Tehran to Ottawa we have een organized protests of Comm fellow-travelers, and a few sentimental people misled by all these oceans of propaganda—protests against the death sentences imposed on the Rosenbergs American courts. There were parades in Paris, and marchers carried banners in London streets. There were lines around the White House and mass meetings in New York.

If the Communists wanted to make certain that the lips of these two conspirators were sealed forever they could not have gone about it more effectively. The case was before the courts for almost three years and it was the judg ment of those courts, including the high est, that the Rosenbergs were guilty, that they must die for their crimes against the State—a crime that may yet, President Eisenhower later was to point out, cost the country millions of innocent lives. So at the end their sole hope of reprieve rested with the White and it is quite clear that however strong might be the President's inclination to mercy he could not reverse the decision of the courts at the demand of agitators and propagandists, whether foreign or domestic. The Reds themselves made it a grim necessity that the Rosenbergs should be executed unless the United States was prepared to accept loss of dignity, loss of self-respect, and to admit blic opinion managed and mani-by clever propagandists was really its final court of appeal. On the guilt of the Rosenbergs no reasonable person will have any and Mr. Eisenhower has said their crime was worse than murder. Dead at the hands of the law they still have a propaganda value, however, and we shall hear endlessly of the brutal Americans as the Rosenbergs, dead, take up the e of martyrs.

But they will serve too as an example a warning to others that the great and powerful USA is not to be a push-over for its enemies, a warning that the is engaged not in a parlor game but in a dirty and deadly business where the gallows can be the penalty of ex-

term "Dominion of Canada" was not foisted on us, but was specially chosen by the Fathers of Confederation its religious significance, namely the scriptural quotation from the 9th chapter of Zecharia: "His dominion shall be from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth" and in an abridged form it is incorporated in our national coat-of-arms.

To drop that term "Dominion," well, at its best it is merely a sign of an inter-iority complex for which there is no reason whatsoever; and at its worst, it is flouting the Almighty, and saying that though the Fathers of Confederation wanted Him to have dominion, we no

INFLATION

The most significant item of news s week is that the U.S.S.R. has now nehed a premium bond issue of 15, 000.000,000 roubles.

This proved that they have not suc ceeded in curbing inflation by buttered roubles or the confiscation of unused wages, and are trying an old capitalistic trick to the same effect, which fact may be the cause of their present leniency

Earlier they could not get goods to the value of £90,000 out of England, so they gave England this amount for flood relief.

Housing Problem-Bird Style

One of the disappointing features about a holiday is that it comes to an end, and it invariably ends just about the time you are getting into a real holiday spirit. to get back into a working mood. Shawnigan Lake is partly responsible for that reluctance to return to every-day routine. During my stay there the weather wasn't con-ducive to outdoor activity, so I read and relaxed and just "set." And while "a-setting" as an aged friend of mine put it-I found entertainment watching the busier inhabitants of that idyllic spot. Two young couples were engrossed in eir domestic concerns. At one end of the veranda a pair of robins were rearing a family with much to-do. At the other end was a rival couple—a pair of saucy juncos. But these neighbors were not on speaking terms. It seems that another family of robins had built a very cosy nest last year under a beam, sheltered by the wide eve of the

Because of its position it had proved a sirable residence, complete with view, etc. So last year's occupants decided to con resume 'residence and bring up this year's family in such pleasant surroundings. not budging. Feathers as well as words flew for a bit, But the little juncos won out, the robins hav ing to retire disconsolately with their slightly bedraggled tails between their legs. Having settled their claim to squatters' rights, the juncos proceeded to refurbish the erstwhile Robin Manor with downy grasses and soft lichens.

That done, Ma Junco started preparations for a family. She put in long spells of "setting." her tail, which was the only part visible to us watchers below, remaining immobile for hours as she perched on the eggs. The Two-Power System Changes

EVEN so serious a reason as Churchill's inability to go to Bermuda would probably not have caused another postponement had the governments believed there was important business which they had to do and could do. But since the president first suggested the meeting a rush of events has discloa radical change in the world ituation. The change is deeper and more significant than personalities, policies, strat-egy or tactics. It has to do with the decline of the abnor-mal influence, exercised by the great powers, during the postwar years.

Rhee's rebellion and the East German riots have been the most spec-tacular signs of a radical change which is in progress inside each of the great coalitions. There is a growing doubt whether the Big Four are still big enough to make a world set tlement. This is casting a bearish light upon the prospect of high level meetings. For they long to an era when the heads of the three big survivors of the Nazi-Japanese onslaught uld make decisions that bound their lesser

Most of the governments for which they could speak so decisively were at that as a matter of fact, occupied by somebody or

But the Big Three or Four are less and less able to bind their smaller allies, even their de-pendents or satellites. Hardly a day passes without new evidence of independence and un-governability within the two orbits. Could the president have spoken for Rhee at Bermuda, the French prime minister for the Viet-nam and Laos and Cambodia, Churchill for any part of the Middle East, or the three of them severally or jointly for Germany? , And if the Big Four were assembled, who could now speak for Germany, or for China, or indeed for Japan?

* * * What we have come to, I believe, is the appointed breakup of the postwar structure, which was built upon the division of the world, at the time of the armistice into the two military orbits the one dominated by Moscow and the other subsidized, protected and led from Washington.

The breakup of this structure was predes-tined and Toreseeable because the excessive predominance of Russia and America in world affairs reflected an abnormal, and altogether temporary, balance of powers at the end of the war. Russia and America are great nais, no doubt, but they have been such superpowers since 1945 only because all the other great powers were for the time being exhausted, defeated, occupied, or just liberated. The time was bound to come when the twopower system of 1945 would give way to a system of many powers For more than a year there has been growing evidence that the two-power system was breaking up. The time of the breakup has breaking up. now arrived. All along the vast border land both sides of the Iron Curtain it is manifest in a variety of ways, some of them apparently contradictory, all with a common ele-

That common element which we need to grasp fully and to fix clearly in our minds for the future and for our own policy is this: The growing recalcitrance, resistance or rebelion to regimentation under great powers Rhee may wish to go on fighting and the King of Cambodia may wish to stop fighting. But the net result is that in Korea and in Indo China, Washington and Paris are no longer so big as they used to be. We have been more conscious of the unruliness of our own coalition than ready to believe that the Soviet empire was not made of iron and granite but of mortal men, sub ject to time and to change. Yet on the other side of the Iron Curtain resistance has already become overt in Tito's rebellion, and the savage purges in the other satellites have shown that the Stalinist empire was meeting elsewhere the same national resistance to alien domination and exploitation. If the postwar system of the two-power world is breaking up, it is not because there is a change of heart, of purpose, of policy, or of tactics in the Kremlin. It is not becau the Eisenhower administration had undermined our adversaries by its brilliant dynam ism, or because it is alientating our allies and friends by its deplorable indecision and self-

The postwar system is breaking up because mankind has outgrown it, because the nations are recovering from the exhaustion and the prostration, the regimentation and the terror of the world war. This is the context of the present. These are the times in which we are living and have to act.

Space Flight Possibilities

HOLLYWOOD (AP)-Off we go into the wild space yonder. . . That theme song may not be far off, say the experts who are working on a film about space flight. One of them is Dr. Konrad Buttner, scientist who did research on the effect of heat and cold on pilots for Germany during the war. Now a researcher at the University of California at Los Angeles on the human aspects of space travel, he comments: "The advent of space travel is only a matter of how much money we want to spend to achieve it. The principles are established; now it is strictly a matter of dollars and engineering. Space travel stands at the same place where the atom bomb was in 1940. Scientists know it can be done."

Dr. Buttner has been advising on the tech-nical aspects of "Riders to the Stars," which producer Ivan Tors calls a science picture. Not science fiction, mind you. He claims The story concerns the search for person-nel to ride a space ship 150 miles up to cap-ture a meteor in its native state. The idea is to learn why rockets crystallize above certain altitudes.

"The selection of personnel to travel in space flight will be a major task," assured Dr. Buttner. "They must be smaller than average in weight and size, but not too small so that they might have inferiority complexes. They must be around 25-fully matured but not yet declining physically. They must be pilots and have a college background, preferably in astro-physics and en-

"They must also have high moral aspects. They will have to possess well-bal-anced personalities and be willing to risk their lives for the benefit of mankind."

Curt Siodmak, who wrote the picture, of-fers the notion that women might be the first space travellers. He points out that women would be smaller, weigh less, require less food and have a better nature for with-standing the boredom of remaining in space for extended periods. Dr. Buttner said it was a possibility.

He added that the establishment of space stations, or artificial satellites, is actually more important to humanity than reaching Mars, the moon or other planets. The latter would largely serve to satisfy human curiosity, he said.

"For instance, we know that there is no air on the moon," he said. "That would make human existence there a very expensive and difficult operation. And what would be gained?

"But the construction of an artificial satellite would have a profound effect on the earth. Not only would it be a means of assuring travel to other planets; it would also be a valuable withing travel. be a valuable military weapon. Dairy Import Restrictions Irk Canada

Government Presents Note to Americans

OTTAWA (BUP) - The Canadian government stood diplomatically at odds with President Eisenhower today on the effect of United States restrictions on dairy imports.

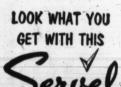

The external affairs depart ment released a note presented to the U.S. state department by Ambassador Hume Wrong. It was the latest of several Canadian protests against the dairy import restrictions.

Imports of fats, oils and dairy products were originally restricted under section 104 of the U.S. Defense Production Act, the external affairs department said, The section of the act under which they were imposed xpired today but the United States renewed restrictions under the Agricultural Adjust ment Act.

The protest note said:

"The Canadian government takes note that the presidential proclamation of June 9 states that these new controls, under section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, are less arbitrary than their predecessors and are in conformity with the requirements of United States foreign trade and economic pol cy and with the reciprocal trade agreements to which the United States is a party."

The note disagreed on the point that the new restrictions were more in line with U.S. trade agreements.

Yanks Lose Again

Drop Ninth in Row; Braves Bounce Back

New York Yankees, who usually don't have to ask for anything, might consider borrowing Charlie Grimm's Milwaukee textbook on "how to start winning when losing.

The Yankees go into today's game at Boston with a chance to set a "second best" losing record for the club. The all-time mark is 13 in 1913. The next worst is nine in 1945 and equalled by the 1953 edition in Wednesday's defeat at the hands of the Red Sox.

The Braves went into a tail-spin the same day the Yanks did and lost eight in a row before righting themselves Tuesday night. Wednesday they won again with ease, 10-2 over

DODGERS HOLD LEAD It looked for awhile Wednes-day night as if the Braves vault back into first place but Brooklyn rallied for two runs in the last of the 10th to nip Philadelphia Phil-lies, 5-4 and keep their half-game edge.

The third-place St. Louis Cardinals overpowered Chicago 10-5 to stay 2½ games behind. Hal Rice homered in the 11th to give Pittsburgh a 5-3 decision over New York Giants.

lost, the Although they lost, the Yankees preserved temporarily their five-game American League lead because the sec-ond place Cleveland Indians also were beaten. Detroit stopped the Tribe's six-game winning rush towards Chicago's thirdplace 4.2. Chicago's third-place White Sox moved to within 5½ games of the pace-setters as they trampled St. Louis Browns 13-4. Washing-ton defeated Philadelphia 5-3.

Tyee Power and Their Tools

Although the Tyees were cooled off twice Wednesday by Yakima Bears, the recent slugging of the club augurs well for the second half of the season, which begins Friday. Looking over the "wood" are two of the leaders in that phase of the game, Granny Glad-stone, left, and Milt Martin. Gladstone recently hit three home runs in as many games, while Martin has been batting at better than a .500 mark during the last 12 games. Dwane Helbig got in on the act Wednesday, hitting two home runs and driving in seven

NEW YORK (AP) -- A NEW YORK (AP) — A week from today golf bugs will be told, almost hole by hole, of the progress of the world's greatest player, Ben Hogan, toward the British Open championship at Carnoustie, Scotland. They will little appreciate the labor that has gone into supplying this service.

Reporting a golf tournament on any of Britain's championship links is a production the like of which is unknown in the United States. POLICE SEEK VENGEFUL TENANT FOR LANDLADY

City police have been asked by Mrs. E. Murell, 410 Kingston, to locate a tenant who, apparently in a rage after being served an eviction notice, left a Fernwood house in a badly damaged state.

She told police that the tenant tore the bathroom cabinet off the wall, smashed a 3x3-foot front window, broke the locks on the front and rear doors "and generally left the place in a filthy condition."

Police said the backyard and rear porch were strews with containers of garbage that had collected over a period of six months. The garbage, they think, is a menace to health.

IRA Thought Behind Blast, Power Cut

BY JAMES KELLY

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UP)-Fanatic Nationalists bombed a railroad bridge near the Eire border today as Queen Elizabeth began a state visit here, and a few hours later all electric power was knocked out in Belfast.

Members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army were suspected of placing the time bomb on the main-line bridge in an attempt to keep Irish war veterans from coming to Belfast to parade for the Queen.

BERLIN (AP)—The West Berlin newspaper Telegraf says today 18 Soviet soldiers were executed by firing squads last week-end for refusing to fire on German rioters in Magdeburg when called in to quell the June 17 workers' revolt.

According to the Telegraf, the soldiers even refused to arrest the rioters after the Germans assured them that their uprising was not directed against Soviet troops.

The executions were said to have been carried out in a Soviet army camp near Magdeburg.
